

Publishing Nutritional Information with EDICOMData

Make your products visible with the EDICOM e-catalogue

WHAT IS EDICOMData

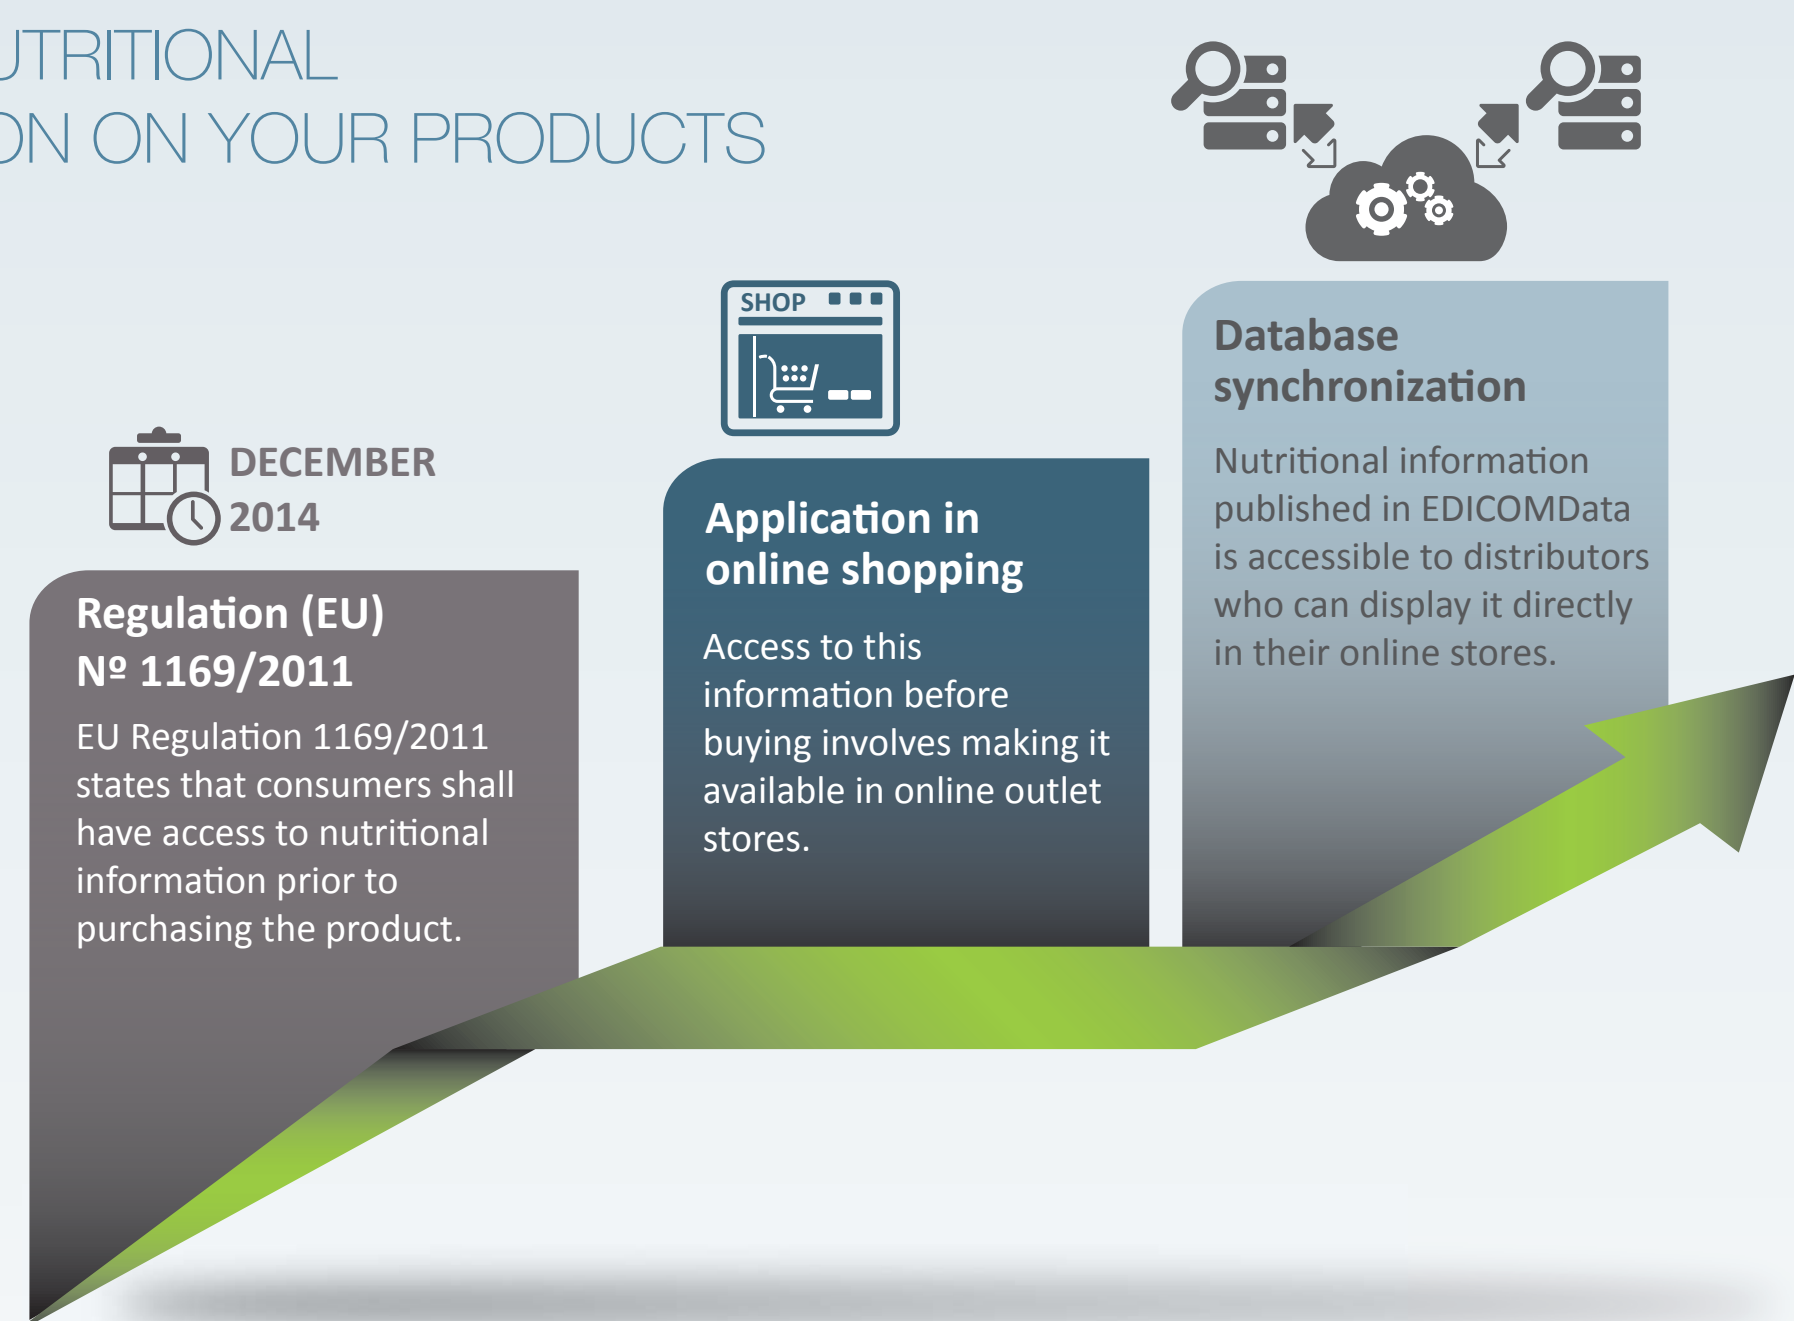

EDICOMData is an electronic catalogue (or data pool) for integration of product databases between manufacturers or suppliers and customers or distributors.

The former act as "publishers" of information in EDICOMData, whereas the latter are "subscribers" or consumers of this information.

Whenever a publisher updates a data record of their product in the catalogue, the update will be visible to subscribers who, through the appropriate integration systems, will be able to keep their product databases synchronized with those of their suppliers.
